

The goal of the LevelSet assessment is to measure student reading ability and to place each student at his just-right reading level. Here are some practical tips teachers can employ to ensure reliable LevelSet scores that reflect student reading abilities.

1 Before LevelSet

- Reserve a 40-minute uninterrupted class period to administer the test. Make sure that you have the computer resources to test each student.
- Show students the LevelSet tutorial (English or Spanish) so that they know what to expect on the test and how their scores will be used.
Resource Center > All About Lexiles & LevelSet or enter keyword LevelSet.
- Have an assignment prepared for students who finish the test early.

2 During LevelSet

- Walk around the room to ensure that students are taking their time with the test questions. The test will deliver the most accurate results when students take their time with the questions and give their best effort on the test.
- Review results as students complete the test* by logging in to your Teacher Edition and selecting Data Center icon at the top of the screen.
- Use this chart to determine each student's level of college and career readiness.

* Note that it may take up to 24 hours to see LevelSet results

3 After LevelSet

- Use the LevelSet Scheduler to look for any students who have not yet completed LevelSet.
- Use the Assessment report Which of my students are emerging readers? to identify students with Lexile scores well below grade level.
Teacher Edition > Reports > Assessment Tools
- Discuss LevelSet results individually with your students. Consider using the student goal-setting documents to connect Lexile results to career goals.
